Lyndsey practices with the firm's litigation group focusing primarily on professional malpractice defense, including medical and attorney professional liability. She graduated summa cum laude from Roger Williams University and earned a Juris Doctor degree from the University of Maine School of Law.

During law school, Lyndsey competed on Maine Law's Judge John R. Brown Admiralty Moot Court Competition team, was a member of the Women's Law Association, and completed a judicial externship with the York County District Court. She also worked as a student attorney for the Maine Clinical Program's General and Rural Practice Clinics to provide free legal services to Mainers in York, Cumberland, Androscoggin, and Aroostook Counties.

Before joining Norman, Hanson & DeTroy, Lyndsey served as a judicial law clerk for the Honorable Richard W. Mulhern and James F. Martemucci of the Maine Superior Court. In her role as the State of Maine's first Trial Court Law Clerk, she also supported various District Court Judges in York County.

Lyndsey resides in Portland with her husband, Cameron, and her cat Coffee. In her free time, she enjoys exploring Maine's beaches, trying new restaurants with friends, and sewing.
